

EDUCATION, SOCIETY, YOUTH A Sociopedagogic Textbook

J. W. M. Pretorius

CHAPTER 1: SOCIOPEDAGOGICS AS A SCIENCE

1.1 Introduction

1.2 Historical-critical view of sociopedagogics

1.2.1 Social and individualistic pedagogics

1.2.2 Sociological pedagogics

1.2.3 State pedagogics

1.2.4 Sociopedagogics as an independent part-science of pedagogics

1.3 Etymological explication

1.4 The function of sociopedagogics

1.5 The structure of sociopedagogics

1.6 Sociopedagogic categories

1.6.1 Educating in society

1.6.2 Educating to society

1.6.3 Educating as evolving interpersonal communication

1.6.4 Interaction between educating and society

1.6.5 Educating as social-societal orientation

1.6.6 Educating as accompanying to identity acquisition

1.7 Interdisciplinary communication of sociopedagogics with contemporary sociology and social psychology

1.7.1 Introduction

1.7.2 Sociopedagogics

1.7.3 Sociology

1.7.4 Social psychology

1.7.5 Significance of interdisciplinary communication with sociology

1.7.6 Significance of interdisciplinary communication with social psychology

1.7.7 Preconditions for interdisciplinary communication with sociology and social psychology

CHAPTER 2: THE FAMILY IN SOCIOPEDAGOGIC PERSPECTIVE

2.1 The family as the center of educating and society

2.2 Family dynamics

2.3 Changing functions of the family

2.4 Types of families from a sociopedagogic perspective

2.5 The meaning of the family as an educative milieu

- 2.5.1 The family milieu is life-space
 - 2.5.2 The family milieu is a response to experiences
 - 2.5.3 The family milieu is a world of love-directedness
 - 2.5.4 The family milieu is a social given
 - 2.5.5 The family milieu is dynamic
 - 2.5.6 The family milieu is enduring
- 2.6 The vulnerability of the contemporary family

CHAPTER 3: THE SCHOOL FROM A SOCIOPELAGOGIC PERSPECTIVE

- 3.1 Introduction
- 3.2 The socializing task of the school
 - 3.2.1 Culture and knowledge transfer
 - 3.2.2 Learning to work
 - 3.2.3 Learning to organize
 - 3.2.4 Learning to cooperate and live together
 - 3.2.5 Learning to relax
 - 3.2.6 Learning to respect and live up to values
 - 3.2.7 Learning how to compete
 - 3.2.8 Learning to associate with the opposite gender
 - 3.2.9 Learning to be physically fit
 - 3.2.10 Learning “life”
- 3.3 The actualization of educative communication in the classroom situation
 - 3.3.1 External factors
 - 3.3.2 Teacher factors
 - 3.3.3 Pupil factors
 - 3.3.4 Group dynamic factors
 - 3.3.5 Discipline factors

CHAPTER 4: SOCIETY FROM A SOCIOPELAGOGIC PERSPECTIVE

- 4.1 Introduction
- 4.2 Structural characteristics of society
- 4.3 Dynamic characteristics of society
 - 4.3.1 Industrialization and urbanization
 - 4.3.2 Natural science and technological developments
 - 4.3.3 Economic development and prosperity
 - 4.3.4 Population explosion
 - 4.3.5 Contact inflation
 - 4.3.6 Massification
 - 4.3.7 Alienation and loneliness
 - 4.3.8 Inadequate socialization
 - 4.3.9 Conscious manipulation
 - 4.3.10 Mass-communication
 - 4.3.11 Social instability
 - 4.3.12 Norm crisis

- 4.3.13 Differences in developmental tempo between educator and educand
 - 4.3.14 Neuroticism
 - 4.3.15 Polyvalent pluralism
 - 4.3.16 Planning, organization, and specialization
 - 4.3.17 Elimination of primary groups by large and complex organizations
 - 4.3.18 Fast change, unpredictability, and future shock
- #### 4.4 Synthesis

CHAPTER 5: THE ETIOLOGY OF SOCIOPEDAGOGIC PROBLEM AREAS

- 5.1 Introduction
- 5.2 Obstructive educative factors
 - 5.3.1 Educative errors leading to sociopedagogic problems
 - 5.3.1.1 Neglect
 - 5.3.1.2 Spoiling
 - 5.3.1.3 Callousness
 - 5.3.1.4 Over protection
 - 5.3.1.5 Too strict
 - 5.3.1.6 Instability
 - 5.3.1.7 Too much correcting
 - 5.3.1.8 "Neuroticism"
 - 5.3.2 Disturbed relationships as leading to sociopedagogic problems
 - 5.3.2.1 Relationship of affective neglect
 - 5.3.2.2 Relationship of rejection
 - 5.3.2.3 Emotional relationship between parent and child too moderate
 - 5.3.2.4 Ambivalent affective relationship between parent and child (e.g., love-hate)
 - 5.3.2.5 Rivalry relationship between brothers and sisters
 - 5.3.2.6 Disharmonious marital relationship
 - 5.3.3 Particular family situations leading to sociopedagogic problems
 - 5.3.3.1 Incomplete family
 - 5.3.3.2 Working mother
 - 5.3.3.3 Child's position in the family (birth order)
- 5.4 Synthesis

CHAPTER 6: PROBLEMS OF CONTEMPORARY YOUTH

- 6.1 Introduction
- 6.2 Struggle for self-affirmation
- 6.3 What youth are seeking
 - 6.3.1 Search for meaning
 - 6.3.2 Search for intimacy

- 6.3.3 Search for identity
- 6.3.4 Search for broadening awareness
- 6.3.5 Search for change
- 6.3.6 Search for an élan
- 6.3.7 Search for authentic religious experience
- 6.4 Pop music
- 6.5 Mass trends
- 6.6 Youth as position of transition
- 6.7 The structure of the youth phase
- 6.8 Generation gap
- 6.9 Youth and subculture
- 6.10 Youth alienation
- 6.11 The ideological flavor of the spirit of Western youth
- 6.12 Sexuality
- 6.13 Early adulthood
- 6.14 Synthesis

CHAPTER 7: THE DRUG PROBLEM IN SOCIOPEDAGOGIC PERSPECTIVE

- 7.1 Introduction
- 7.2 Definition of concepts in connection with the drug problem
- 7.3 The sociopedagogic meaning of drug abuse
- 7.4 Classification, elaboration, and cases of misuse
- 7.5 Sociopedagogic bases for drug abuse
- 7.6 The inadequate actualization of sociopedagogic essences as leading to drug abuse
- 7.7 The prevention and combating of drug abuse
- 7.8 A contribution to "drug language"

CHAPTER 8: THE PROBLEM OF DROPPING OUT OF SCHOOL

- 8.1 Introduction
- 8.2 Definition of dropping out of school
- 8.3 The origins of dropping out of school
 - 8.3.1 Personal factors
 - 8.3.2 Family factors
 - 8.3.3 School factors
 - 8.3.4 Societal factors

8.4 The situation of the potential school dropout

- 8.4.1 Characteristics of school dropouts
- 8.4.2 Family situation
- 8.4.3 School situation

8.5 Abolishing the problem of the school dropout

- 8.5.1 Identification of the potential school dropout
- 8.5.2 Pedotherapy
- 8.5.3 Parental guidance
- 8.5.4 Orthodidactic assistance
- 8.5.5 Links among orthopedagogue, parents, and school

CHAPTER 9: THE PROBLEMATIC OF THE ENVIRONMENTALLY IMPEDED CHILD

9.1 Introduction

9.2 Environmental retardation

9.3 The environmentally impeded neighborhood

9.4 The environmentally impeded family

9.5 Forms of neglect in the environmentally impeded situation

- 9.5.1 Material neglect
- 9.5.2 Social neglect
- 9.5.3 Affective neglect
- 9.5.4 Language neglect
- 9.5.5 (Socio) pedagogic neglect
- 9.5.6 Culture-pedagogic neglect

9.6 The environmentally impeded child in the school situation

9.7 Rendering assistance to the environmentally impeded child

CHAPTER 10: THE PROBLEM OF JUVENILE DELINQUENCY

10.1 Introduction

10.2 The sociopedagogic meaning of juvenile delinquency

10.3 Categories of juvenile delinquency

10.4 The origins of juvenile delinquency

10.5 The psychopathic child and juvenile delinquency

10.6 Motives for juvenile delinquency

10.7 Youth misconduct

10.8 Forms of juvenile delinquency

10.9 Rendering assistance to juvenile delinquents

